Workshop-II - Psychological well-being of Disability

Date: 8th November 2022,

About the workshop series:

Social work profession that always demands one to update regularly on their skills and techniques to excel in this field. To enhance the skills, the PG Department of social work (Disability and Empowerment) organised a series of workshops on “Skill enhancement for social work students”. The team of experts from the field of social work and allied professionals, identified by the department enlightened the students with their experiences and knowledge to help the students to equip and meet the career demands and excel in their field of Disability and Empowerment.

Psychological well being of Disability

Mr. Ponnsami conducted the second workshop series and the students gained knowledge about how disabled persons are how they are not oppressed but have been separated from society on their own. He spoke about the government reports and incentives provided to the differently abled people and he also presented a video on how recruiters can provide employment opportunities based on their skills and talent the students of D&E had a thought provoking experience.
