

Suicide prevention day report

On the 10th of September 2022, the department of family counselling along with the department of counselling psychology organised a program at madras school of social work to spread awareness about suicide prevention. The students from the department of family counselling made many posters and charts that showed positive quotes and also important helpline numbers. The program commenced at 1:30 pm and students from both the departments gave speeches highlighting the importance of mental health and seeking help when needed. After the students gave their speeches the Dean of MSSW Subhashini ma'am spoke a few words regarding the importance of suicide prevention. This was followed by a speech by our very own HOD Dr. Subashree ma'am and a speech by the head of department of family counselling Dr. Hannah John. Once the speeches ended few students offered face painting for all the students which was a big hit. The students chose paintings that involved the semi colon symbol which is a symbol for suicide prevention. Many students gathered throughout the day to learn more about the program and get their face or hand painted.
